

HARDING ABANDONS MEDIATION IN RAIL STRIKE; TO OFFER ROADS PROTECTION OF GOVERNMENT

PART SETTLEMENT IN SOFT COAL STRIKE AFFECTS SIX STATES

PLANS TO PLACE RAIL SITUATION BEFORE CONGRESS

Both Operators And Miners Ratify Pact

CLEVELAND, August 15.—(By The Associated Press)—Both operators and miners today ratified an agreement to bring part settlement of the soft coal strike. Formal signing of the agreement went over until a joint conference this afternoon.

Settlement In Brief
In the brief, the settlement provides that the miners shall be returned to work at the same scale of wages that were in effect when they went on strike; the new contract is to continue in force until next April 1; the agreement also provides for appointment of an advisory fact-finding commission, a part of its duties being to consider future settlements of disputes in the coal industry.

Settlement Controls 60 Million Tons Annually
The settlement came after a showdown Monday on the issue of compulsory arbitration came, resulting in three big operators withdrawing from the conference when President Lewis refused to accede to the demand. Then the conference re-organized and threw the doors open to all soft coal operators. A quick agreement in principle followed, with operators controlling production of 60,000,000 tons annually, committed to its adoption.

Affects Six States
The operators in the meeting have mines in Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan. Orders were sent forward from these operators here today to their bosses back home to get ready to speed up coal production. Miners, too, were confident that an early resumption of work at scattered mines would result in other operators hurrying their acceptance of the agreement.

"Check-off" System of Collecting Union Dues Is to Be Preserved by the New Agreement. No specific reference was made in the settlement of the wage contracts which included the "check-off" that expired last March.

Breakdown In Collective Bargaining System
The terms of the settlement mark a breakdown in the system of collective bargaining that has grown up in the soft coal industry since 1881. It shows the abandonment of the principle of at least of the central competitive field, comprising western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, as the basis for fixing wages in fields outside the four states. In the past, many contracts have been made for the central field, and those of outside districts have been fixed on the central field scale.

Broken Down Before
This is not the first time, however, that the wage-making machinery on the central field basis has broken down. It failed in 1908 and was not re-established until 1910. The new plan of settlement is a fundamental change in the policy of the United Mine Workers of America and for that reason the union party committee of 128 members was called to meet tomorrow to pass on it.

Over 60,000 Men Affected
The latest estimate of the number of miners who will be put back to work under the settlement was obtainable in the United States. Altogether, there are 75,000 soft coal miners on strike, union of

FEAR OUTBREAK IN LAS VEGAS; TOWN ISOLATED

LAS VEGAS, NEV., August 15.—(By The Associated Press)—Las Vegas was at a high tension today. For two days the town has been without trains, mails or fresh food-stuffs. State police, armed with machine guns, were expected almost momentarily, but officers here said they feared an outbreak before reinforcements arrived.

Approximately 150 persons, railroad shop employees, guards and their wives and children, were virtual prisoners in a railroad stockade here early today and Union Pacific strikers were maintaining pickets outside. Governor Boyle declared the isolation of Las Vegas made the situation one fraught with untold danger. He pointed out that this city is more than three hundred miles away from other cities with all transportation facilities cut off.

District Attorney Harmon told the men that an outbreak at this time would unquestionably result in "another Herrin tragedy" and pleaded with the strike breakers to hold "hot heads in check."

The seventeen men arrested yesterday following the shooting in the Union Pacific yards were arraigned in a justice court. Two were released on $50 bond each, and the fifteen others on their own recognizance until August 21.

Birth Of Two Babies On Stranded Train; Others Sick

LOS ANGELES, CAL., August 15.—(By The Associated Press)—Birth of two babies and the serious illness of four other children and 21 women were among the hardships endured by some of the 300 passengers who arrived here last night from Seligman, Arizona, after four days under the torrid temperature, which makes that community one of the hottest in the southwest.

Mrs. Clara Kerr, of Cleveland, was among the women ill. Mrs. Alma Morris, address unknown, who was coming to Los Angeles, with her infant son, was said by other passengers to have found her money all spent as the result of extra expenses caused by the delay at Seligman. When she arrived here a station attaché paged her and quietly presented to her a purse made up by fellow passengers. It developed today that one of the passengers arriving Sunday on a delayed Santa Fe train was the infant son of Evan Burrows, Fontaine, dancer, who has begun suit against Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., for damages of $1,000,000, alleging breach of promise of marriage and that he is the father of her child. The child became ill because of the desert heat and the lack of water and proper food, according to his grandmother, Mrs. Florence Fontaine, who has it in charge.

Pacific Coast Feels Bitter Pinch Of Strike

SAN FRANCISCO, August 15.—(By The Associated Press)—From the Canadian boundary line south almost to the Mexican border, the Pacific coast states today felt a bitter pinch from the railroad strike, which have been developing. Little or nothing had been done for the fruit growers of northern Washington, Southern Oregon and Northern California, while but little more was being done for those in the San Joaquin Valley of California farther south.

The strike of Union Pacific transportation employees at San Bernardino, Cal., was ended last night and four trains moved eastward over that route's Los Angeles-Salt Lake City line, but how far they would get, in view of continued walk-outs at Caliente and Las Vegas, Nevada, no one would hazard a guess.

Fruit growers and others directly affected by the tie-ups took up the cudgels in their own defense last night and meetings at Wenatchee, Washington, and Fresno, California, made vigorous appeals to President Harding for relief. The Wenatchee gathering, asserting that that district's $25,000,000 fruit crop was endangered, offered to supply and protect men to man trains to move the fruit.

A new factor in the situation and one which experienced railroad men said might well be viewed with apprehension was the refusal of the pumping plant employees along the Santa Fe lines to remain at work. An inspection by an Associated Press correspondent disclosed that some of the water tanks at desert points along these roads between Needles and San Bernardino apparently were dry, and others nearly so. Should these tanks be unable to provide their usual supplies for locomotives, it was asserted by strikers that not even such trains as could be manned by officials, would get through.

The situation at Roseville, Cal., brightened considerably with the announcement this morning that the brotherhood men who have been on strike there since Sunday, had reached an agreement with Southern Pacific officials to return to work. This settlement, it is believed, will prevent a crisis for the fruit growers of Northern California, as Roseville has been the key-block in the jam on the Southern Pacific.

Primary In Mississippi

JACKSON, MISS., August 15.—(By The Associated Press)—Mississippi Democrats went to the polls today to choose a nominee for the seat in the United States senate occupied for the last twelve years by John Sharpe Williams and select their candidates in six of the eight congressional districts. One supreme court justice, six chancellors and six circuit judges also were to be nominated. Nomination is equivalent to election.

Chief interest centered in the three-cornered senatorial fight in which former Senator James K. Yardaman, of Jackson; former Representative Hubert Stephens, of New Albany; and Miss Belle Kearney, of Florida, were candidates.

Mr. Williams did not enter the contest. Former President Woodrow Wilson in a letter made public recently expressed the hope that Mr. Yardaman would not again be sent to the United States senate. Miss Kearney began her campaign soon after Senator Williams announced his retirement from public life. She is a prohibition and woman suffrage advocate.

The president was said to feel that it is due to the country and congress that the exact conditions in the strike situation—the coal as well as the railroad difficulties—should be presented as he has ascertained them during weeks of negotiation and conference. He does not consider, it was said, that the step will interfere with any peace efforts which may be continued in other than governmental quarters and he hopes that the coal difficulty may have at least partially disappeared by the time he presents his message.

Harding To Remain In Washington

WASHINGTON, August 15.—(By The Associated Press)—President Harding will not leave Washington as long as the industrial situation remains critical, it was said today at the White House, and will give up his proposed trip next week to Mooseheart, Illinois, unless there is a radical improvement in conditions.

Rail Unions Attempt Mediation
WASHINGTON, August 15.—(By The Associated Press)—Leaders of the railroad labor organizations today made public the rejection of President Harding's final offer for settlement of the national strike of shop craftsmen, but declared that attempts to mediate the difficulties by direct dealings between railroad executives and heads of the four brotherhoods were still in progress.

The union leaders after a conference also made public a statement declaring that the railroad executives by their responses to the president's final offer had also "declined to accept the president's proposition and had not even agreed to permit all employees now on strike to return to work."

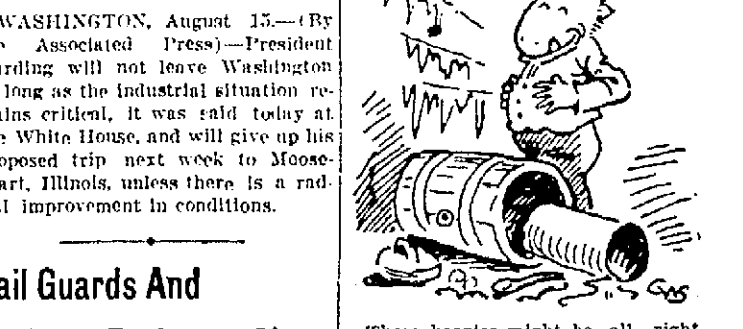

Decision was reached at today's conference that the heads of the seven striking unions and B. M. Jewell, their chairman, should remain at Washington for at least a temporary period to determine whether the brotherhood leaders are able to get in contact with railroad executives.

Through Daniel Willard, president of the B. & O. and Warren S. Stone, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, both denied last night having entered into a conference on the strike situation, it was admitted today that such a meeting had been held. Mr. Willard left the city immediately afterward. What further efforts the brotherhood officials would make was not disclosed.

Jacob Miller, Retired Tailor, Found Dead

Death in sudden form sometime early this morning came to Jacob Miller, retired tailor, at his home, 819 Third street. His lifeless body was found about five o'clock this morning by William Wilbur, who lives upstairs, and who went into the dead man's room to see if he was all right. He found the body near a window, and there is evidence that Mr. Miller suffered a hemorrhage. It is thought that he then went to the window to call for help, but died before he could summon anyone.

Mr. Miller was up and around as usual Monday and talked with neighbors Monday evening. He appeared in his usual health and did not complain of feeling bad. Mr. Miller had lived at 819 Third street for some years and was a familiar figure on that street.

Jacob M. Miller was born in Baden, Germany, November 9, 1838, and would have been 84 years of age this coming November. He was reared in his native country and married there. About 1878 he came to this country, locating for one year at Clyde, O. Later he was joined by his wife and several grown children. After a year in Clyde he moved to Portsmouth and engaged in the tailoring business. He learned the trade in Germany and followed his trade in this city for some years, or until he retired.

His wife, Mrs. Kate Miller, passed away in this city thirty years ago. Surviving are two children, Mrs. Anna Wyer of Columbus, who was born in Germany, and Edward Miller of Dayton, who was born in this city. He also leaves two brothers, John Miller of Norwalk, O., and C. F. Miller of Second street, this city.

REMARKABLE TRIBUTE PAID BY BRITISH PRESS TO NORTHCLIFFE

LONDON, August 15.—(By the Associated Press)—A remarkable tribute is paid by the British press to the late Viscount Northcliffe this morning, columns and in some instances even pages, being devoted to eulogistic, photographic and special articles on the achievements and personality of the master journalist, whose career ended at the height of his power.

biographical sketches and messages of regret from journalists, politicians and the diplomats in all parts of the world.

Tributes from America, including President Harding's message of condolence to Lady Northcliffe, are displayed prominently. George Harvey, the American ambassador, sent a message from Scotland, but King George, who is there also, is not represented among the published telegrams and cablegrams from the empire's prominent personages. The press generally terms Lord Northcliffe, the great British journalist of all times. His spirited Fleet street competitors, but intimate personal friends, Lord Burnham and Lord Reaver Brook, the proprietors of the Daily Telegraph and the Daily Express, are mentioned in their praise of Lord Northcliffe's service to journalism and to the empire.

The Daily Chronicle says his death causes one to think of "other towering figures suddenly abased within the present century."

COLUMBUS, O., August 15.—(By the Associated Press)—With acreage seven per cent higher than last year and the condition of the crop eight points higher than the normal for the ten year average, Ohio's hay outlook is brighter this year than it has been for some time, according to the state federal crop reporting service in its monthly crop report. Europe Failed To Seize Her Opportunity LONDON, August 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Europe was unable to rise to what might have been a great opportunity to put her feet on the road to recovery. This is the consensus of the press comment regarding the failure of the London conference, but as to who was responsible for the fact depends upon whether one accepts the French or British viewpoint.

The pro-government editorials express the hope that France will take the counsel of reason and sobriety, and not continue to act against her own best interests, while those of the opposition say the British people will not allow any administration to quarrel with their friend and ally for the benefit and satisfaction of the Germans.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Miss Wise—Please tell me how to keep a silk scarf from rolling. I have a narrow one, but I cannot wear it on account of the way it rolls.

MANY THANKS.
Let it roll. It will look better that way than spread out these hot days. If you don't like it rolled on your neck, why not wear it on your arm? There's where I wore mine until it slipped off and disappeared.

Dear Dolly Wise—Do you know anything that will remove hair from the face? I would not be afraid to try anything you would say was all right. Some say ammonia is good, but I was afraid it would take the skin off, too. Also, can you recommend cocoa butter for the face, and is it guaranteed not to grow hair?

NEW BOSTON READER.
Sure, I know lots of things that will take hairs off the face—a razor, for instance, or a seissors. You can also buy various remedies at the drug store that will remove them, or have them removed with the electric needle. Ammonia and peroxide are all right, but as you say, the constant use of it will make the skin red.

Miss Wise—Will you please print a recipe for cucumber relish.

WANT TO KNOW.
Twelve large cucumbers, six onions, two green peppers, two yellow peppers, remove seeds from peppers, chop fine; add three-fourths cup of salt and let stand over night. In the morning drain thoroughly; add one-half cup of grated horseradish, one heaping teaspoon of celery seed, one teaspoon of mustard seed, one cup sugar, one teaspoon each of cinnamon, cloves and allspice (enclosed in a muslin bag) and enough vinegar to make it very moist. After boiling 10 or 15 minutes, seal it in bottles.

Dear Miss Dolly—Will you kindly publish in your valuable columns of the Daily Times a recipe for making grape juice? I have quite a lot of grapes which I hate to see go to waste as it seems unlawful to make wine of them.

SUBSCRIBER.
Pick over grapes and nearly cover with water and cook thoroughly. Strain as for jelly. To each quart of juice, add one-third cup of sugar, boil five minutes and seal.

Dear Dolly—When I put powder on my face it doesn't go on smooth. It rolls up and looks like meal, and makes my complexion look terrible. Will you please tell me something that will help it? I have tried everything I know of and anything that you can do for me will be greatly appreciated. And listen, Dolly, I am 17 years of age and I want to know if I am old enough to allow a boy to GREENUP READER.

Perhaps you put the powder on when you are perspiring and it "cakes" on your face. If you must use it in hot weather, see that your face is dry when you put it on, and don't use too much of the powder. Your parents know better than anyone else and if they think you are too young, that settles it.

Alcohol will remove the gum. I imagine gasoline will also do the work.

Read what Mrs. Lucas Writes Concerning Her Troubles, which May be Just Like Yours

St. Louis, Mo.—"I had troubles that all women are apt to have, with pains in my back, weak, tired, nervous feelings and a weak stomach. I had been this way about a year and was unable to work or stand on my feet for any length of time. My husband's aunt told me how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done her and begged me to try it, so I did. All my pains and weakness are gone, my stomach is all right and I do my work at home and also work for Swift's Packing Company. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends and you may publish my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. LULU LUCAS, 719A Vandewater St., St. Louis, Mo.

Again and again one woman tells another of the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. You who work must keep yourself strong and well. You can't work if you are suffering from such troubles. Mrs. Lucas couldn't. She tried our Vegetable Compound and her letter tells you what it did for her. Give it a fair trial now!

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

In most countries laws will free women from an unfaithful wife.

In certain parts of Korea, the procedure is different. Customs justify a man taking waiters into his own hands.

He may bury his wife alive with just her head emerging from the earth. Here she serves as a horrible example to all her sex.

Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS DARTON

NANCY and Nick were in a lurch over the Tinkly-Winkly Star. Flap-Doodle, the purple fairy, who had stolen the Fairy Queen's wand, had changed Nancy into a baby-doll and Nick into a wooden soldier. Flap-Doodle flew away to the moon, swinging his stick and singing, "Tra diddy um dum, doodle um day!" as unmerciful as you please.

Nancy fortunately still had in her pocket a bit of the language charm the Magical Mushroom had given her. So she could still talk.

"Nick!" she said cautiously lest she be overheard. "We have our Green Shoes yet. Let's wish ourselves out of this."

Nick rolled his wooden eyes, or tried to roll them.

"Humph!" he said. "And suppose you land with a bump! You'll break into a million pieces. I've got a good idea. Let's roll. We'll get somewhere."

So they rolled out of Flap-Doodle's front door and down the road. But to their surprise they didn't meet a single Tinkly-Winkler. They didn't know that Flap-Doodle had changed all the Tinkly-Winklers into wooden Indians and things.

Also they forgot the mischievous fairy had turned down the saucer edges of the Tinkly-Winkler Star so that everything that went near fell off.

Down the road they rolled and on and on and the first thing they knew they'd rolled right over the edge of the star and were falling through space past clouds and moon and stars and everything.

Who had shot and killed the ne'er-do-well
ROBERT ABLETT, within two minutes after his arrival at The Red House, the country estate of his wealthy bachelor brother.

MARK ABLETT? Robert's body was on the floor of the locked office, Mark was missing, and in the opinion of Inspector Birch, it was clear that Mark, who had looked forward with annoyance to the return of his brother from Australia, had shot Robert and then disappeared.

But there were mysterious circumstances. The shot was fired a few moments before

ANTHONY GILLINGHAM, gentleman

adventurer and friend of

BILL BEVERLEY, one of Mark's guests, had entered the hall where he found

MATT CAYLEY, Mark's constant companion, pounding on the door and demanding admittance. The two men entered the room through a window and found the body.

Anthony and Bill had decided that Cayley knew more of the crime than he would disclose. They discovered a secret passage from the bowing green to the house and, in Cayley's absence, tried to find an opening to it in the library.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

Anthony tried to put himself in Cayley's place—Cayley when Anthony first discovered him, hammering at the door and crying, "Let me in!" Whatever had happened inside the office, whoever had killed Robert,

Cayley knew all about it, and knew that Mark was not inside, and had not escaped by the window. But it was necessary to Cayley's plans—to Mark's plans if they were acting in concert—that he should be thought so to have escaped. At some time, then, while he was hammering (the key in his pocket) at the locked door, he must suddenly have remembered—with what a shock!—that a mistake had been made. A window had not been left open!

And then Anthony's sudden appearance! Here was a complication. And Anthony suggesting that they should try the window! Why, the window was just what he wanted to avoid. No wonder he had seemed dazed at first.

Ah, and here at last was the explanation why they had gone the longest way round—and yet run. It was Cayley's only chance of getting a start on Anthony, of getting him up—Even if that were impossible, he must get there first, just to make sure.

So he had run. But Anthony had kept up with him. They had broken into the window together, and gone into the office. But Cayley was not done yet. There was the dressing-room window! But quietly, quietly, Anthony mustn't hear.

And Anthony didn't hear. Indeed, he had played up to Cayley splendidly. Not only had he called attention to the open window, but he had carefully explained to Cayley why Mark had chosen this particular window in preference to the office window. And Cayley had agreed that probably that was the reason. How he must have chuckled to himself!

They were outside on the lawn again now, Bill and Anthony, and Bill was listening open-mouthed to his friend's theory of yesterday's happenings. It only gave them another mystery to solve.

"What's that?" said Anthony.

"Mark. Where's Mark? If he never went into the office at all, then where is he now?"

"I don't say that he never went into the office. In fact, he must have gone. Elsie heard him." He stopped and repeated slowly. "She heard him—at least she says she did. But if he was there, he came out again by the door."

"Well, but where does that lead you?"

"Where it led Mark. The passage."

"Do you mean that he's been hiding there all the time?"

Anthony was silent until Bill had repeated his question, and then with an effort he came out of his thoughts and answered him.

"We'd better make certain. Could you be a sleuth-hound, Bill—one of those that travel on their stomachs very noisily? I mean, could you get near enough to the pond to make sure that Cayley is still there, without letting him see you?"

"Rather!" He got up eagerly. "You wait."

Anthony's head shot up suddenly. "Why, that was what Mark said," he cried.

"Mark?"

"Yes. What Elsie heard him say."

"Oh, that."

"Yes. . . . I suppose she couldn't have made a mistake. Bill? She did hear him."

"She couldn't have mistaken his voice, if that's what you mean."

"Oh?"

"Mark had an extraordinary characteristic voice."

"Oh?"

"Rather high-pitched, you know, and—well, one can't explain, but—"

"Yes."

"Well, rather like this, you know, or even more so if anything." He rattled these words off in Mark's rather monotonous, high-pitched voice and then laughed, and added in his natural voice, "I say, that was really rather good."

Anthony nodded quickly. "That was like it?" he said.

"Yes." He got up and squeezed Bill's arm. "Well, just go and see about Cayley, and then we'll get moving. I shall be in the library."

"Right."

Bill nodded and walked off in the direction of the pond. This was glorious fun; this was life. The immediate program could hardly be bettered.

To Anthony, who was older and who realized into what deep waters they were getting, it did not seem fun. But it was amazingly interesting. It was like looking at an opal, and discovering with every movement of it some new color, some new gleam of light reflected, and yet never really seeing the opal as a whole. His brain could not get hold of it.

But there were moments when he almost had it. . . . and then turned away from it. He had seen more of life than Bill, but he had never seen murder before, and this which was in his mind now, and to which he was afraid to listen, was not just the hot blooded, letting which any man may come to if he lose control. It was something much more horrible. Too horrible to be true. Then let him look again for the truth. He looked again—but it was all out of focus.

CHAPTER XIV

BILL had come back, and had reported, rather breathless, that Cayley was still at the pond. They stood in front of the room of seclusion, Anthony took down the Red and Theodore Lush's famous volume, and felt for the spring. Bill pulled. The shelves swung open toward them.

"By Jove!" said Bill. "It is a narrow way."

There was an opening about a yard square in front of them, which had something the look of a brick fireplace, a fireplace raised about two feet from the ground. But, save for one row of bricks in front, the floor of it was empty. Anthony took a torch from his pocket and flashed it down into the blackness.

"Look!" he whispered to the eager Bill. "The steps begin down there. Six feet down."

He flashed his torch up again. There was a handhold of iron, a sort of large iron staple, in the bricks in front of them.

"You swing off from there," said Bill. "At least, I suppose you do. I wonder how Ruth Norris liked doing it."

"Cayley helped her, I should think. . . . It's funny."

"Shall I go first?" asked Bill, obviously longing to do so.

Anthony shook his head with a smile.

Quit Laxatives, Purges; Try NR

NR Tonight—Tomorrow Feel Right

It is a mistake to continually dose yourself with laxatives, purges, and force bowel action. It weakens the bowels and liver and makes constant dosing necessary.

Why don't you begin right today to overcome your constipation and get your system in such shape that daily purging will be unnecessary? You can do so if you get a box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one each night for a week or so.

NR Tablets do much more than merely cause pleasant easy bowel action. This medicine acts upon the digestive as well as eliminative organs—promotes good digestion, causes the body to get the nourishment from all the food you eat, gives you a good, hearty appetite, strengthens the liver, overcomes biliousness, stimulates kidney and bowel action and gives the whole body a thorough cleaning out. This accomplished you will not have to take medicine every day. An occasional NR tablet will keep your body in condition and you can always feel sure that you are well.

Try Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and prove this. It is the best bowel medicine that you can use and costs only 25c per box, containing enough to last twenty-five days. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold everywhere and recommended by your druggist.

"I think I will, if you don't mind very much, Bill."

"Right," he said. "Go on."

"Well, we'll just make sure we can get her a rain first. If really couldn't be fair on the Inspector if we got stuck down here for the rest of our lives. He's got enough to do trying to find Mark, but if he has to find you and me as well—"

"Right."

"GOOD LORD!" SAID BILL, TURNING ROUND WITH A START "CAYLEY!"

Anthony sat down on the ledge of bricks, swung his feet over, and sat there for a moment, his legs dangling. He flashed his torch into the darkness again, so as to make sure where the steps began; then returned it to his pocket, seized the staple in front of him and swung himself down. His feet touched the steps beneath him, and he let go.

"Is it all right?" said Bill anxiously.

"All right. I'll just go down to the bottom of the steps and back. Stay there."

The light shone down by his feet. He was afraid to listen, was not just the hot blooded, letting which any man may come to if he lose control. It was something much more horrible. Too horrible to be true. Then let him look again for the truth. He looked again—but it was all out of focus.

"Well, not quite alone. There was a sudden voice in the hall outside."

"Good Lord!" said Bill, turning round with a start. "Cayley!"

If he was not so quick in thought as Anthony, he was quick enough in action. Thought was not demanded now. To close the secret door safely but noiselessly, to make sure that the books were in the right places, to move away to another row of shelves—the difficulty was not to decide what to do, but to do all this in five seconds rather than in six.

"Ah, there you are," said Cayley from the doorway.

"Hello!" said Bill, in surprise, looking up from the fourth volume of "The Life and Works of Samuel Taylor Coleridge." "Have they finished?"

"Finished what?"

"The pond," said Bill, wondering why he was reading Coleridge, such a fine afternoon. Desperately he tried to think of a good reason.

"Yes. . . . verifying a quotation—an argument with Anthony—that would do. But what quotation?"

"Oh, no. They're still at it. Where's Gillingham?"

"The Ancient Mariner"—water, water, everywhere—or was that something else? And where was Gillingham? Water, water, everywhere—

"Tony? Oh, he's about somewhere. They aren't finding anything at the pond, are they?"

"No. But they like doing it. Something off their minds when they can say they're doing it."

Bill, deep in his book, looked up and said "Yes," and went back to it again. He was just getting to the place.

"What's the book?" said Cayley, coming up to him. Out of the corner of his eye he glanced at the shelf of sermons as he came. Bill saw that glance and wondered. Was there anything there to give away the secret?

"I was just looking up a quotation," he drawled. "Tony and I had a lot about it. You know that drop to where, and—er—not a drop to where, and—er—not a drop to where. (But what on earth, he wondered to himself, were they betting about?)

"Nor any drop to drink," to be accurate."

Bill looked at him in surprise. Then a happy smile came on his face.

"Quite sure?" he said.

"Of course."

"Then you've saved me a lot of trouble. That's what the bet was about." He closed the book with a slam, put it back in its shelf, and began to feel for his pipe and tobacco.

"I was a fool to bet with Tony," he added. "He always knows that sort of thing."

So far, so good. But here was Cayley still in the library, and there was Anthony, all unsuspecting, in the passage. When Anthony came back he would not be surprised to find the door closed, because the whole object of his going had been to see if he could open it easily from the inside. At any moment, then, the bookshelf might swing back and show Anthony's head in the gap. A nice surprise for Cayley!

Six Cases In City

Six cases of typhoid fever are reported in the city, according to the records of Health Commissioner J. O. D. Tatje, made public last night in response to a question concerning the prevalence of typhoid in Portsmouth.

"There may be more cases," Dr. Tatje said, "but only six have been reported to me."

"These," he continued, "are for the most part directly traceable to the victim having been out of the city on a vacation and brought the disease back with him or her as the case may be."

"As far as typhoid being contracted in Portsmouth," the commissioner said, "there are practically no cases of such now."

ZANE GREY'S WESTERN STORY THE LAST TRAIL

STAGED BY EMMETT J. FLYNN

ZANE GREY'S "LAST TRAIL" COMING HERE

At the Eastland Theatre, tomorrow will be shown for the first time here "The Last Trail," a special production screened by William Fox from the well-known novel by Zane Grey—whose stories have made him as famous with motion picture followers as he is the fiction reading world. This latest Grey picture, made under the skillful direction of Emmett J. Flynn, is described as most thrilling in incident as it must be if it follows the book—and unusually elaborate and impressive in its staging. In short, the patrons of the Eastland Theatre should be in for a genuine treat. The picture is scheduled for a run of four days.

Readers of the Grey novel will recall that it deals with the mystery surrounding the operations of an outlaw who works alone and terrorizes the country-side by his daring and ruthlessness.

The Fox company is a notable one, headed by Maurice Flynn and Eva Novak, and including such sterling players as Rosemary Thorne, Charles K. French and Harry Thinkinson.

Simple Simon met a pieman going to the fair;

Said Simple Simon to the pieman, let me taste your ware.

Said the pieman to Simple Simon, show me first your penny.

Said Simple Simon to the pieman, indeed I have not any.

For centuries, Mother Goose has taught the philosophy of economics and the mechanics of trade in the simple story of Simple Simon and the pieman.

Men who have something to sell, must seek those who have money to buy, and tempt them with attractive goods of right quality, properly made that will be comfortable and wear.

And that's just what I offer you in that new toney, red calf oxford on the new Sovereign last—a regular oxford for a he-man. Palm Beach also.

Says Ford
Guarantees
Fertilizer

WASHINGTON, August 15.—Replying to criticism by Senator Har-rard of Oklahoma, and other members of congress that Henry Ford in his proposed contract for taking over the Muscle Shoals project does not guarantee to manufacture fertilizer, Gray Silver, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation, today wrote them calling attention to Section 15 of the Ford order, which he quotes as stating that "the manufacture, sale and distribution of commercial fertilizer constitute one of the principal considerations of this offer."
Mr. Silver declared this the most important provision in the contract, and one, the violation of which provides grounds for the institution of proceedings by the attorney general to cancel the lease.
"Not only does Mr. Ford guarantee to manufacture fertilizer, but he states he will make 40,000 tons of nitrogen equal to one-fifth of our total annual consumption in fertilizer and he will do so with the most economical power available," continues Mr. Silver's letter.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Opening prices on the New York stock exchange today were mainly upward, but the hesitant mood of most traders because of the uncertainty of the strike situation resulted in relatively light dealings. Rains recovered yesterday's gains of 1/4 to 1 1/2 points being registered by New York Central, Great Northern and Chicago and Northwestern, with most of the others advancing fractionally. The boom in the building industry found expression in United States Realty, which jumped 2 1/2 points to a new high for the year. Pierce-Arrow pfd was up 1/4 on reports of increased earnings and gains of a point or more were made by Crucible, British Empire steel second pfd, Peoples Gas and Sears-Robinson.

The principle reactionary shares were General Electric and American International, which were down 1 and 7/8 points respectively.

Long interests soon attained control of the market and prices soared steadily after the early selling orders had been absorbed. Conspicuous strength was shown by the Mexican steel, dividend paying rails and industrial steel shares. Active bidding for some of the specialties forced up several to new peak prices for the year, including Famous Players, International Paper and Pittsburgh Coal. Union Pacific broke through for a new high and Chicago and Northwestern, Great Northern pfd and Northern Pacific extended their early gains. Advances of two points or more took place in Crucible and Lackawanna steels, American Can and American Lumber pfd, American Radiator, Gulf Steel and Louisville and Nashville followed a contrary course, dropping 1 to 4 points. Call money opened at 3 1/2 per cent.

Short covering, believed to have been predicated on reports that large speculative interests were again buying shares, was instrumental in causing a moderate advance in prices in today's stock market. Sales approximated 420,000 shares.

The closing was easy.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—Announcement that there would be no board of control in the Canadian wheat trade this year tended to strengthen the price of wheat a little here today during the early dealings. Trade, however, was light, and even those dealers who looked for a rally seemed unwilling to risk buying much in view of disturbed industrial and financial conditions. Country offerings to arrive were meagre, with some sellers to arrive cancelling contracts when possible. The opening, which ranged from 3/4c decline to 3/4c advance with September 1.01 1/2 to 1.01 3/4 and December 1.01 1/2 to 1.02 1/4, was followed by an upturn all around to a trifle above yesterday's finish.

Absence of rain gave firmness to corn and oats. After opening, unchanged to 1/4c higher, September 57 1/2 to 57 3/4, the corn market scored moderate general gains. Oats started 1/2c to 3/4c off, to 3/4c up, September 30 1/2 to 30 3/4, and later showed gains on all deliveries.

Provisions averaged lower in the absence of any special demand. Practical absence of demand for wheat flour except from previous sellers resulted in new low price records for all deliveries with September receding for a while to less than $1 a bushel. Buyers were deterred on account of domestic shipping uncertainties and the foreign monetary complications. The market closed unsettled, at the same as yesterday's finish to 1/4c lower, with September 1.60 1/2 to 1.60 3/4 and December 1.61 1/2 to 1.61 3/4.

The effect of the Canadian news proved to be of only transient character.

Injunction Against Hocking Valley Road Shopmen

COLUMBUS, O., August 15.—(By the Associated Press)—An injunction restraining striking shopmen of the Hocking Valley Railroad in this entire southern Ohio district from in any manner hampering operation of the road from using intimidation in an effort to keep present employees of the company from their work and from the use of violence and force, was granted here today by Judge Sawyer in federal court. The injunction also limits the number of pickets to one at each entrance to shops or other railroad property.

In granting the injunction, the court said that evidence showed that employees of the road had been cut off from the outside by fear of being molested by pickets and that crowds gathering at the shops had the effect of intimidating the employees.

A similar case against employees of the Pennsylvania will be heard tomorrow and on Saturday one against T. & O. C. employees is scheduled to come before the court.

Briand Arrest As Chicken Thief, Error

ROUEN, FRANCE, August 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Police headquarters here, following an epidemic of petty chicken coop thefts, recently sent out instructions for all the commissaries of this district to be on the look-out for suspicious characters and to demand their papers of identity. A young, ambitious gardener, recently appointed, hailed a pedestrian along the high road. The gardener escorted his prisoner to the nearest police station for further examination.

"You made a wonderful capture," the prisoner told the youthful officer. "You are certain to receive a lot of credit for this arrest."

Upon arriving at the station house, the prisoner was allowed to telephone to the public prosecutor here, who released him immediately. He proved to be one Aristide Briand, seven times premier of France, who headed the French delegation to the Washington conference last November. He had forgotten his identity papers and was going fishing a few miles from his summer home in a nearby village.

GAMES THIS WEEK

Wednesday—N. & W. vs. Excelsior.
Thursday—Vulcan vs. Excelsior.
Friday—Excelsior vs. Central Labor.

The fighting N. & W. crew continued on its winning streak by coming through with another victory at the North End pasture last evening when they took the Central Labor team down the line to the tune of 6 to 3 in a rather loosely played but exciting combat, which was abbreviated by the gathering darkness to five rounds. The handsome win marked the sixth straight victory for the N. & W. outfit, four of which were achieved over the league leaders.

The Railroaders had one big session, the fourth, when they gave "Goose" Houston, their one-time companion from the bat caves of Brewery Hollow, a hot reception, jolting his output for five straight hits, including a couple of two-run shots, which produced a quartet of markers. The chomch boys had hit Houston's delivery rather freely earlier in the contest and jammed across a couple of tallies, which added to the four scored in the first round ran their count up to the six while the enemy could garner but hit as many off the sharp-shooting of Floyd Waits who allowed five hits and with a little cleaner support in the field, would have held the opposition to practically nothing. Two hits and an error gave the first round a hit and a boot was responsible for another in the second. After that, Waits choked off the league leaders although Stillwell hit a long one to deep right in the fifth but was out down trying to stretch the hit into a triple. Elliott followed with a double but he perished as the next three batters went out on easy chances to the infield.

The Railroaders battered Houston for nine hits. Fannin leading with two hard salutes and the heavy shelling of the front line trench in the fourth was no way to treat an old comrade, but the right-handed counterpart stuck on the job and bore up well under the bombardment. At that he would have had a fine chance to over off the long end of the count had not the blanket of darkness which spread over the field and ended hostilities in the first half of the sixth, when the Laborites decided to do a little scoring on their own hook. They hopped onto Waits at the outset of this stanza and knotted the count in a hurry with none down when the umpire Yeager halted the proceedings and announced it was time to quit. It was dark at this juncture and was impossible for the athletes to see the ball in fact, the sixth inning should never have been started. Calling of the frisks at this point resulted in the score reverting back to the end of the fifth and the trio of markers registered by the leaders went for naught.

Here's how it was recited off:
FIRST INNING
J. Kerser tripped to right on the first pitched ball. Stillwell fanned. Fannin fumbled Elliott's bouncer. Kerser scoring. Lewis looped a single to left. C. Cooper moved to Fannin. Worthington muffed Sowards' assist on Kerser's rap and the bags were full. Monk hit by pitched ball, forcing Elliott over the pan. Grimm forced Monk at second when he hit to Sowards. Two runs, two hits, one error.

Worthington was safe on his hit to Monk. Woods sacrificed. Houston to Lewis. Thimmes hit to short and Worthington was caught at third. Monk threw out Bauer. No runs, one hit, no errors.

SECOND INNING
Fannin threw Houston out at first. J. Kerser beat out a roller to short, and stole second. Stillwell sacrificed. Waits to first. Sowards fumbled Elliott's roller and J. Kerser scored. Lewis hit to Woods and was out. One run, one hit, one error.

THIRD INNING
C. Cooper out on roller. Fannin to Woods. Shoemaker muffed R. Kerser's fly. Monk popped to Waits and R. Kerser was doubled off second. Pitcher to Fannin. No runs, no hits, one error.

FOURTH INNING
Grimm grounded to Woods. Sowards threw out Houston at first. J. Kerser sent an easy fly to Fannin. No runs, no hits, no errors.

FIFTH INNING
Stilly was caught at third on his long hit to left. Elliott took two bases long hit to left. Lewis hit to Fannin and was out at first. Fannin also threw out Cooper. No runs, two hits, no errors.

SIXTH INNING
Monk took Woods' fly back of first. J. Kerser muffed Thimmes' fly after a hard run. Bauer forced Thimmes. R. Kerser to Monk. Bauer stole and went to third on Stilly's lead throw. Shoemaker fanned. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Manager Galloway and Pitcher Conley charged the Spudders "dipped the ball in crocodile, a fluid used to dip cattle and sink railroad ties in, in order to cause Conley to lose the effectiveness of his spitball."

"This is the dirtiest deal I have ever been victim of in my 10 years of professional baseball experience," Conley said.

TENNIS RESULTS

Defeating of Blood and Robinson by Harold Flowers and Lyles last night and the defeat of Breese and Williams this morning by Howard Flowers and Richard Hopkins in the men's doubles of the city-wide tennis tournament were the big surprises in the latest matches played. Blood and Robinson by bowing to the younger locals are out of the tournament and the same applies to Breese and Williams. Hopkins and Flowers and Griffith and Hyland are the winners in Group B.

When Flowers and Lyles met Blood and Robinson who had not met defeat in the first five elimination matches the last named team did not expect to go up against such good playing as uncooked by the younger team who did not allow Blood and Robinson a game in the first set and won the second 6-3.

Vandervort and Monroe now remain as the only team in Group A. They won over Franston and Spence of Group B by scores of 6-4 and 6-1. Richard Hopkins and Flowers were able to make it a close and then Hopkins and Flowers took the next two winning out 7-5 and eliminating Breese and Williams.

Hopkins is leaving town tomorrow and will be unable to play the first match of the second round of elimination series. Flowers will play probably with another partner against Bickle and Snyder tomorrow evening. Also Wednesday at the Golf Club. Price and Storck will play Griffin and Hyland.

Peebles Beats All Stars

PEEBLES, O., Aug. 15.—Peebles defeated the Adams County All Stars by a score of 9 to 4 in a well played game on the Peebles grounds. Little was on the mound for the home team and had the All Stars cutting out of his hand, Hayslip was hit hard and Jones was unable to keep the sphere away from the local boys. This was the first of a series of three games between the Peebles Club and an All Star picked from Adams county.

The second game will be played at Manchester Sunday, August 20. The third game will be played at the place designated by the team scoring the most runs in the first two games. The box score:

Golfers To Clash

DAKNOTH COUNTRY CLUB, PITTSBURGH, PA., Aug. 15.—There was a world of confidence written in the wide smile of Johnny Farrell, the 22-year-old vanquisher of Jim Barnes, former title-holder, as he prepared today for his match with Tom Kerrigan, the Sweeney star, in the third round of the national professional tournament.

Sixteen survivors of two match play rounds yesterday started the forenoon half of their 36-hole matches today for the championship, and incidentally for the purse of $1,000, which goes to the winner.

Gene Sarazen, Pittsburg, the national open champion, was paired with F. T. Sprague, of Memphis, in one of the three matches that promised to attract galleries. Jack Hutchison, of Chicago, has to beat Harry Hampton, of Detroit, whose medal play yesterday was sensational, while Farrell, tackles Tom Kerrigan.

Among the pairings was R. S. Minor, Stamford, Conn., vs. Emmett Finch, Youngstown, Ohio.

The best medal card turned in yesterday was 73, one under par, but Hampton shot the first nine holes in 32, five strokes better than par figures.

NATURE'S BENEFICENCE

THE government's report as to the state of the crops is a refreshing piece of news, standing out, as it does, in such bright contrast against the gloomy background of industrial dissension and decreased production of coal and commodities dependent on coal for their manufacture. While business marks time, awaiting the settlement of the miners' and railroad shopmen's strikes nature has been working hard to restore prosperity. If men only would co-operate there is good reason to believe the country would enter another boom period.

There would be cause for rejoicing if only the grain crops were to yield bountifully. The department of agriculture finds, however, evidences of nature's beneficence in a number of the other fruits of the soil. A corn crop of three billion bushels, the fourth in the country's history, is forecast, and the wheat yield will be above the average for five years, for while winter wheat was lower the prospects are that spring wheat will more than overcome the deficiency. It is indicated that the crop of sweet potatoes will be the greatest ever gathered. And the hay crop, which is now being harvested, also exceeds all previous records. The yield of white potatoes will be the second largest. Heavy yields of tobacco, apples and other fruits are predicted.

While men of various trades and crafts have been idle through strikes nature has been on the job 24 hours in the day. Growing conditions were favorable during July. The beneficent sun furnished the proper amount of warmth and moisture was forthcoming as needed. It is a fortunate thing for mankind that the forces which govern the universe are not possessed of human frailties and prejudices, since on their steadfastness and constancy rests our hope of food supplies. If nature ever went on strike we would all perish miserably.

COIN OF THE REALM

CAESAR caused the Roman money to be stamped with his likeness, thereby including it among "the things that are Caesar's." In ancient times the emperor owned not only the money but all the substance of his realm, including the lives of his subjects. The same is true today in all those countries in which the government is still an absolute monarchy. The coin of the realm has peculiar interest in that it bears the likeness of the ruler of the nation.

The coin of the United States is not a departure from this rule, although all the figures depicted thereon are symbolic. Upon most of the coins is the goddess of liberty. The eagle, symbol of strength and courage, is also upon most of them. In only one case is the head of a particular individual imprinted upon an American coin—the head of Lincoln on the cent. And Lincoln, around whose personality is clustered the finest of American tradition, symbolizes the best of American citizenship. H. G. Wells has said that Lincoln, better than any other, embodies the essential ideals of America.

So it still holds, as it did long ago, that on the coin of the realm is stamped the ruler of the nation.

ON FASHIONS

ALTHOUGH fashions are a subject upon which relatively few individuals feel themselves thoroughly informed, one feature of these current today cannot help being obvious. It is clear that at the present time it is fashionable not to be in fashion. The unconventional, the out-of-the-ordinary, the original, everywhere bring forth the highest approval.

Among those unfortunate persons to whom the mode of their dress is the one absorbing subject in life, this mandate of fashion demands peculiar, and in some cases, revolting costume. But among the great majority of men and women, who like to be well-dressed to the end that they may forget about it, the idea means freedom and comfort in the choice of wearing apparel never before enjoyed since civilization began. Clothes today are not, for instance, the hampering silly adornment of the seventeenth century; they are models of a wide variety, the chief features of which are comfort, utility, and the simplicity which makes for beauty.

This cry after the unconventional affords the necessary means for molding public approval, which is naturally conservative. It is not so easy to be shocked these days as it used to be; but the average man and woman have opinions, and in the wide choice now available, good sense and simplicity are bound to prevail.

THE DEATH OF SAUL

THE Philistines pursued Saul and slew his three sons and Saul was wounded by the archers. Saul said to his armour-bearer: Draw thy sword and thrust me through. But he was afraid and would not. Saul took a sword and fell upon it. When his armour-bearer saw that Saul was dead he fell likewise upon his sword and died with him. When the men of Israel saw that Saul and his sons were dead they forsook the cities and the Philistines came and dwelt in them. And David lamented over Saul and over Jonathan, whom he loved.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY G. B. BENTLEY

NEW YORK, August 15—Manhattan now has a subway complex. For years its millions shot through the dark underground passages with the rush of a sky-rocket and even the most timid felt no fears. The Subway Sun, that unique newspaper posted in a car window each day, boasted of its very few accidents.

Elevated trails might totter to the street and surface cars collide, but the subway was Manhattan's passenger carrying Gibraltar. Then came a series of accidents ending in passengers being trapped in cars and carried through chopped holes in the street, suffocated.

Now no day in New York is complete without its subway panic. A stalled train sends men and women white faced to the barred doors. A fuse blow-out brings a collective shriek. Women now brave the subway with flasks of smelling salts and even other stimulants.

Several passengers have even been caught in the nickel-in-the-slot gates which supplanted the ticket choppers. The new slot system incidentally removed from the subway a group of picturesque old men who stood at their clippers and received the tickets. Nearly all were gray-haired and bent.

The truth is, of course, that the subway has been singularly free from accidents when one considers that express trains, ten cars in length, run every minute and locals, seven cars long, every three minutes in each direction. And that they carry their millions daily.

The greatest complexity of the subway is the inability of the passenger to reach his destination without changing from express trains to shuttles and then on to locals. One may "Follow the Green Line" or "Follow the Black Line"—painted lines on the ceiling for guidance from one train to another—but unless one is acquainted with the system it is like prowling about a mystic maze at Luna Park.

There are men who travel daily on the subway and have for years who now and then find themselves in the upper reaches of the Bronx when they really wanted to be downtown. It is disconcerting to say the least.

The unusual quality of booze that is being served to hard drinkers these days has resulted in a peculiar jargon among its consumers. Men used to awaken with a "hang-over" or "a big head." Now they awaken with what New Yorkers call "the itchy gibbles" and "the numbling mauls." The "itchy gibbles" describes what in the old days was known as the "snakes." And the "numbling mauls" is where a fellow after a bad night sits about on the side of the bed and talks to himself. Lots of 'em do, too.

A Wall Street broker leaving for Germany left the following address with his secretary: "Any beer garden—Berlin!"

When business gets slack in a Broadway restaurant the proprietor does not go into bankruptcy. He merely redecorates his place. One of the jazziest supper clubs in the Porties has been redecorated three times this season and is planning another surprise in a few weeks. People, it would seem who patronize the cafes do not care so much about food as trick stage settings and jazzy orchestras. The Palais Royal is to be made over into a replica of the Hanging Gardens of Babylon. Interior decorators are making huge fortunes in restaurant decorations. The proprietor of one cafe called in an interior decorator.

"How do you want it decorated?" "How do you want it decorated?" he was asked. "O, all agog!" replied the proprietor. (Copyright 1922, By The McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

IF YOU ARE WELL BREED

You try to keep all appointments on time and have a right to expect that courtesy from others. Etiquette would never require that you wait an hour for a friend to meet you. But having waited, good form demands that you be gracious to the delinquent and that you do not spoil the delayed engagement by an exhibition of bad humor.

Just Then He Left

A young man arrived at the party and made his way to the hostess greeting her and apologizing for his lateness. "Awfully glad to see you," said the hostess. "So good of you to come. But where is your brother?" "He was unable to come. You see, we are so busy just now that it was impossible for both of us to get away, and we tossed up to see which of us should come."

"How nice! And you won't?" "No," replied the young man, absently. "I lost!"—Houston Post.

My Own Work

Let me do my work from day to day in field or forest, at the desk or loom, In roaring marketplace or tranquil room: Let me but find in my heart to say, When vagrant wishes beckon me astray, "This is my work; my blessing, not my doom; Of all who live I am the only one by whom The work can best be done in the right way." Then shall I see it not too great, nor small, To suit my spirit and to prove my powers. Then shall I cheerful greet the laboring hours, And cheerful turn, when the long shadows fall At eventide, to play and love and rest. Because I know, for me my work is best.

Why He Wept

Even at only a little over two years old Bobby was very willful. One day he insisted on doing what he had been forbidden to do. "Bobby," his mother said sternly, "if you do that I'll spank you."

The child burst into half-hysterical weeping. Alarmed by such an instant result, his mother put her warning in a more reassuring form. "Bobby dear," she said gently, "if you don't do it, Mother won't spank you." In a voice choked with sobs the unconsoled Bobby retorted: "But I'm going to do it!"
